The short saphenous vein lies superficially and closely to the outer border. The Division of the Tendo Achillis. --Place the patient on a bed with the foot extending over the edge; forcibly flex the foot to make the tendon tense (Fig. 297); draw the skin outward away from the tendon to remove the saphenous vein from danger; introduce the blade of the tenotome with the flat surface parallel with the tendon close to its outer or inner border, as is most convenient; carry the point of the blade to the opposite side of the tendon and depress the handle to a horizontal position; turn the edge toward the tendon and cut carefully through the structure with a guarded sawing motion, while the foot is firmly flexed and the tendon is pressed upon the edge with the finger. At the last stage of the procedure great caution is essential, otherwise a sudden giving way of the tendon may cause the severance of the superimposed tissues. All of the precautions previously enjoined in tenotomy should be exercised in this instance. After carefully pressing the air and blood from the wound by carrying the thumb and finger of the left hand toward the cut, the wound is closed by a catgut stitch or by an antiseptic compress held in place by a fold of sterile gauze. When the position of the foot is properly rectified, it should be held thus (Fig. 298) by a long adhesive strip...
