Not illustrated. 1824 Excerpt: . . . see, therel see, there! the old witch Elise is sitting at the gate, and wont let the gentleman pass, because he has not given her groschen. n For the first time now I perceived an old beggar sitting, coiled up like a ball, in a corner by the gate, and with the grin of idiotcy on her features. Will the d--d witch not get out of the way cried the Judge. Hereupon the old woman croaked out, The bloody brother--the bloody brother has given me no groschen!--Do you not see the dead man there lying before him--The murderer cannot get over him, for the dead man raises himself up; but I will crush him down, if the bloody brother will give me a groschen! The Judge had taken the horse by the rein, and, not minding the old woman, would have led it through the gate....
