Pursuant to a legislative requirement, GAO reviewed the Air Forces best practices implementation schedule for the acquisition and distribution of secondary inventory items, focusing on: (1) the extent to which the schedule responds to the provisions of the Strom Thurmond National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 1999; and (2) specific elements of a management framework needed for effective implementation and oversight of the Air Forces best practice initiatives. GAO noted that: (1) the Air Forces schedule is generally responsive to the act; (2) it describes 17 initiatives that address the acquisition and distribution of secondary items that the Air Force manages, and with one exception, provides for implementation of these initiatives to be completed within 5 years; (3) the initiatives are aimed at reducing the Air Forces infrastructure and improving the maintenance, information management, and acquisition processes; (4) though generally responsive to the acts requirements, the Air Forces schedule provides a management framework that lacks an overall strategy and specific elements needed to assess implementation progress, measure success, and identify needed changes; (5) while the schedules initiatives are linked to...
