By Festus Kipkosgei

GRIN Verlag Feb 2016, 2016. Taschenbuch. Book Condition: Neu. 211x151x4 mm. Neuware - Research Paper from the year 2010 in the subject Psychology - Forensic Psychology, Penal System, grade: A, (Moi), course: Research Statistics, language: English, abstract: Keeping students safe in school have been an issue of concern in the country over the past decade. School officials have continued to deliberate on best ways to keep the students safe including putting of police officers in schools. Insecurity might be thought to be caused by external perpetrators, but it is also possible that students can be the agents of insecurity. Thus, police presence in the schools can significantly improve then the level of security. Jason Nance through an empirical analysis stated that increasing police officers presence at school will significantly increase the odds that a school will refer students to law enforcement for offenses including the lower-level offenses. The laws put in place by the school administration so as to ensure security prevails in the school may determine the level of discipline of its students. While the governments have continuously conducted researches and surveys targeting to inform the public about the safety of the student. Less have been done regarding determining...
